

MURDER TRIAL BEGUN.

William Wilson, Accused of Killing Officer Murphy.

PUT ON TRIAL AT ST. CLAIRSVILLE.

No Trouble in Securing a Jury—The Witnesses Tell Again the Story of the Tragedy at Martin's Ferry on September 1, on the Day of Cooke & Whitby's Circus.

The trial of William Wilson for the murder of Officer George Murphy at Martin's Ferry on September 1, was begun in the Belmont county common pleas court at St. Clairsville yesterday. The Cooke & Whitby circus, of which Wilson was an attaché, was showing there that day, and Marshal Westwood undertook to arrest him, when he fired at the marshal. Officer Murphy came to his chief's assistance, when Wilson shot him, and he died three days later.

Prosecuting Attorney Hollingsworth is assisted in the prosecution of the case by Albert Lawrence, while the counsel for the defense are Thomas Shay, a noted criminal lawyer of Cincinnati, and Hon. L. Danford.

There was no special trouble in securing the jury, the twelve men being secured out of the first panel of sixteen. Mr. Hollingsworth opened for the state, and Mr. Danford followed for the defense. The testimony for the state was then opened, the first witness for the state being Capt. Abram Lash, of Martin's Ferry, who had made a plat of the ground where the murder occurred, which he explained.

Marshal Samuel Westwood narrated the circumstances of the shooting. The trouble originated at the Cleveland & Pittsburgh station, where Wilson was Westwood saw him chasing three boys, and saw him put his hand to his hip pocket. He started after him, when Wilson fired at the boys. The marshal caught up with him and struck him with his mace, staggering him to his knees. Then Wilson struck at Westwood with his revolver and followed this up by shooting at him, the ball piercing his hat. The man then ran six or seven feet, when Murphy started after him. He turned and fired, the ball striking Murphy in the right breast. Wilson then got under a box car, Murphy stooping and firing at him twice. Westwood ran around the car and shot twice at the fleeing man. From here Wilson escaped to the circus cars, and he was caught as he was climbing on a car.

Drs. Blackford and Hobensack described Murphy's wound, and testified that it was the cause of death.

Officer Bowman told the story of the difficulty, and said that he had previously arrested a man for being in a row, but he was not identified and he let him go. The officer then corroborated Marshal Westwood's account in all essential particulars.

J. A. Moore, a special policeman, said when Wilson was caught Murphy cried, "I'm done for! That's the man that shot me! Hold him!"

C. C. Cochran told of catching the wounded officer as he fell. He said he told another policeman to kill Wilson, and then asked a boy to get him a revolver.

William Elliott, an eye witness of the shooting, told substantially the same story as the others, as did several other witnesses.

The Watkins boy, at whom Wilson fired, was on the stand when the court adjourned till 9 a. m. to-day.

The court room was crowded all day, many ladies being in the audience.

Christmas Gifts.

The popularity of the Wheeling Bakery's "Tin Sen" Bread is wonderful. We think every little boy and girl in the city are buying these extra large five-cent loaves of our most excellent bread. There has been very sharp competition among our little friends in getting tin seals. A score or more have been making every effort to possess themselves of the coveted 100 seals, each determined to draw the first prize.

Yesterday Ella Altmevor, No. 4725 Eoff street, presented the required number of seals at the bakery's office, and made the first selection from a great variety of dolls—over 150 of them. The selection had only been made when Rachel Marling, of Belaire, presented the second 100 and made second choice. She was immediately followed by Katie Wright, Second street, Martin's Ferry, who drew the third prize. Next came Hattie Emshelmer, of North Main street, who possessed herself of the fourth doll.

The little ladies were all most delightfully pleased, which was really expected, for the dolls are surely beautiful. A few of them are on exhibition at the retail store. Let us see who will be next. We would like to see some of our little men. Those pocket knives are perfect treasures and we have about 200 of them. WHEELING BAKERY.

AASLY report was current yesterday that Governor McKinley had been assassinated by a crank at East Liverpool. Where it originated could not be learned. It was absolutely untrue and without foundation. Governor McKinley was at Cleveland yesterday, and in good health.

The grand ball given by the popular Beabout club boys at Beethoven hall last night was a great success in every particular. The music was by Billy Mayer. At midnight the "grand prize" commenced, and was the feature of the affair. The prize was a roasted sucking pig. Jim Holmes won it.

According to the custom of the Jr. O. U. A. M. December 3 has been set apart to have a Thanksgiving sermon preached to them, and Rev. Dr. Riker has kindly consented to do so on the morning of that day at 10 o'clock. They will meet at the hall of Wheeling Council No. 1, 1221 Market street, at 9:30 o'clock. Every Junior should turn out, and all visiting brothers in the city are cordially invited to join them.

Elks' Memorial Service. Wheeling Lodge No. 28, B. P. O. Elks, will hold its annual memorial services at the Opera House on Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 2:30 o'clock. These exercises will be of a solemn and impressive character, and the public in general is invited to be present. The programme is composed of vocal and instrumental music, an eulogy by Brother John A. Howard, an address by Rev. Dr. W. H. Cooke, and an eulogy by Brother W. H. Johnson, of Zanesville, O., Lodge No. 114. Brother Johnson is an orator of exceptional ability, and his address on this occasion cannot fail to please all. A letter of invitation has been sent to all ministers in the city inviting them to be present, and requesting that they announce these exercises at the morning service at their church on that day, and cordially invite their congregations to attend. Seats will be free to all.

Ovide Musin, with his fine company of artists, gave a most successful concert at the Opera House two years ago, and the general expression at that time was, if Musin ever came to Wheeling again with his magnificent company he would be greeted with a full house. Ovide Musin's grand concert company give the next concert in the Young Men's Christian Association course on Friday evening, the 8th. Seats will be reserved at C. A. House's next Tuesday morning. Ovide Musin, if not superior, is at least the peer of any living violinist.

Miss Julia Marlowe. A treat is in store for Wheeling theatre-goers when Miss Julia Marlowe comes to the Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday nights. Miss Marlowe infuses her lines with the charm of candid ingenuitiveness and intellectual womanliness. Her insight into the poet's fancy is deep; and, as his ideal is high, so is her interpretation broad, the manifestation of natural artistic sympathies.

FAREWELL BANQUET

Tendered to W. W. Whitmyer by Fellow Newspaper Men

AT THE McLURE LAST EVENING.

It Was an Enjoyable Occasion to the Large Delegation of Local Pencil Pushers Present—An Elegant Repast Discussed—Mr. Hart Acted as Master of Ceremonies—Short Talks by Those Present.

Last evening at the McLure house the newspaper men of the city tendered to Mr. W. W. Whitmyer, late city editor of the News, a farewell banquet. Mr. Whitmyer it is well known leaves to-day for Huntington, where he takes editorial and business charge of the Herald of that city. The affair was undertaken at short notice, and reflects great credit on the committee in whose charge it was, especially Mr. Roy Naylor. At 9:30 o'clock the following gentlemen sat down at the festive board: Messrs. Charles Burdett Hart, Will S. Faris and R. Mather Archer, of the INTELLIGENCER; Will C. Deans, Harry V. Arkle, P. S. Anshutz and George W. Summers, of the Register; H. C. Ozden, Roy R. Naylor, Will Woodluff and Robert Blackford, of the News; Colonel Sam B. Harrison, of the Press Club; Mr. John Day and finally the guest of the evening.

Mr. Hart acted as master of ceremonies. An elegant repast was discussed after which short talks by those present followed. Mr. Hart opened the "ball" by calling upon Editor Ozden, of the News, who in a feeling manner described the faithful work done by Mr. Whitmyer on the paper since its start several years ago, and said he greatly regretted losing his services, but hoped and felt sure that he would meet with success in his new field.

Mr. Whitmyer responded in a few words that were to the point. He thanked his associates on the News, and the newspaper boys of the city for the testimonial of esteem tendered him, and assured them that he would always remember it. He hoped that he would make as many good friends in Huntington as he felt sure he has in Wheeling.

Messrs. Naylor, Harrison and Blackford, of the News, co-workers of Mr. Whitmyer, spoke feelingly and wished him a successful future. A test of popularity is the amount of esteem in which a man is held by his fellow workers; Whitmyer is fortunate in having the universal liking and respect of all his intimates. Mr. John Day, the "dean" of the local newspaper fraternity, made one of the neatest hits of the evening.

Mr. Hart told very effectively several stories of episodes in his newspaper experience years ago, which were very interesting and well received. Mr. Sam B. Harrison, the inimitable author of "Front," was responsible for a considerable part of the life of the affair, and gave vent to an eloquent tribute to "Whitmyer."

It was after 11 o'clock when the affair came to an end, and the universal verdict was that not such a pleasant evening had been experienced by those fortunate enough to be present, for a long time.

CHILDREN'S Cloth Coats at 98c, 91c and 82c. About one-half and one-third regular prices. The entire production of three of New York's Cloak houses bought and on sale to-day. STONE & THOMAS.

A True Story. An old gentleman living up in Pennsylvania came to the city the other day. He said he had heard so much about how cheap goods of all kinds could be bought in Wheeling that he thought he would come down and see for himself. This is what he said: "I wanted to buy a nice watch. I went from one jewelry store to another and the prices in every case seemed too high. At last a friend suggested to me that I call on O. C. Ganther, the wholesale jeweler on Main street. So I concluded to try him. Mr. Ganther showed me the largest and finest line of watches I ever saw. His prices were far below all others on all grades of watches, and I selected one. Mr. Ganther is the only one in Wheeling that is strictly in the swim on the prices of all kinds of watches. I advise all my friends who desire purchasing anything in the jewelry or watch line to give him a trial. He has a large stock of jewelry and watches from the very cheapest up to the very finest. While there I purchased a nice pair of gold spectacles, and my eyes were tested free of charge by Prof. Platt, of New York, one of the best opticians I ever came across. I am satisfied these spectacles would have cost double the price elsewhere. Mr. Ganther informed me that Prof. Platt could always be found at his store and he made no charge whatever for testing the eyes."
